

INTERN NEEDED

There are lots of wonderful and exciting things happening in the Aoife Kirwan Millinery studio these days and we are now searching for an intern to help with the daily running of a small but growing business while developing their skills and gaining valuable work experience. This is a great opportunity to learn about design and high end craftsmanship as well as the day-to-day running of a business.

WHAT'S INVOLVED?

This is an unpaid position and is aimed at providing experience for the successful candidate, however if you learn quickly and add value to the business there is potential to develop a paid position. The right person will create their own opportunities!

You need to be able to come and work in the studio in Portlaoise (an hours drive/train/bus journey from Dublin) 2-3 days per week for 6-8 weeks with an option to extend. Flexible hours and free parking. No, you will not be asked to make coffee! (unless you want to!). Here are some of the things you will be helping with: product production for orders, the development of the new collection, prepping for and helping to run the stand at the national design & craft fair in the RDS in December.

WHO WE'RE LOOKING FOR

Someone with hand-sewing skills, who is interested in millinery and fashion, is creative, task-orientated with an eye for detail, someone who is reliable and is able to start A.S.A.P!

HOW TO APPLY

If you are interested please email me at AoifeKirwanMillinery@yahoo.ie telling me a little bit about yourself and why you would make a good candidate, along with your C.V. and anything else you think is relevant (portfolio if you have one or photos of something you have crafted) and I will be in contact with you.
